Things that can make your Atlantic City visit worth the value

With the growing popularity of Atlantic City as one of the leading tourism destinations in the country, the $4 million Welcome Center was set up in Atlantic City. The Center provides you all the information on the attractions, culture, food and beverages, important events, and historical sites in the City. It also provides information on Atlantic City Hotels and Atlantic City Resorts to facilitate easier accommodation.

The Boardwalk

The greatest attraction perhaps is the Boardwalk in the center of the township. It is approximately five miles in length and the structure is made of wood, steel and concrete. It stretches along the Atlantic Ocean beaches. Some visitors have described the boardwalk as crude, barbarous and yet magnificent. The width of the famous boardwalk is around 60 feet and it has now become the home for a number of shops, eating places and also the amusement stands. The surface design is a combination of bethaburra, which is a hardwood from Brazil.

On the boardwalk you will find the world famous $1 billion Taj Mahal of Donald Trump. This structure is saddled with the image of Ganesh, the Hindu Elephant God and also with onion domes that are multicolored. There are minarets following the original wonder of the world and chandeliers that cost around $14 million. The boardwalk continues towards the south and reaches Ventnor.

The entertainment piers

Parallel to the boardwalk are a number of entertainment piers. Most of them have been destroyed over the time and have been rebuilt once again. The central pier has an observation tower. One of the most sought after pier is the Steeplechase Pier that provides amusements to children. Another very popular entertainment area was the Steel Pier that was first installed way back in 1898. It was converted to a family entertainment pier in 1990 and was taken within the famous Taj complex.

Lovers of culture and history will like to view the Garden Pier. It has got Arts Center and also the historical Museum. Several shops and restaurants have come up in the pier. Similarly, Trop World Resort will provide you with Tivoli Pier that is an amusement park that spreads over two acres of land. It reminds you of the carnival days of the Atlantic City.

Other Attractions

Glittering hotels and 24 hour casinos constitute some of the main attractions for visitors in the Atlantic City. Atlantic City hotels are worth staying and casinos are very friendly to customers. Other attractions in the city are the Ripley’s famous Museum called the “Believe it or not” has been attracting numerous visitors since 1996.

The Absecon Lighthouse is a 228 step structure that takes you back down the memory lanes in to the dark alleys of history. It also provides you with a bird’s eye view of the Atlantic City being the tallest light house in New Jersey. The six storied wood and metal structure captioned “Lucy the Margate Elephant” is another major attraction since the entire building has the shape of an elephant.

Life in the glass making village is amply portrayed in Wheaton Village while glimpses of colonial life is seen in Smithville. The glories of past when sea route was the major international transportation route can be discovered in the Mammal Standing Center as well as the museum in Brigantine.

So whether it is modern life amenities, facilities for relaxation and entertainment, sight seeing or tourism, Atlantic City offers you all and you will not resent your visit and stay at this popular tourist destination.

About the Author

Log on to this website to know all about Atlantic City, its history, culture, social life, places of interests and comprehensive information. It also provides information on Atlantic City Hotels like the Borgata, Resorts AC, Hilton AC, Tropicana and others and could be a very good guide for your visit of Atlantic City.

Source: http://www.waddyjones.com